"Write Brain has done it again! The exciting and new SEL programs give students more moments to create and express themselves while disguising core language arts/reading curriculum. It's all truly terrific! WRiTE BRAiN's programs are inclusive of the arts. As a fine arts teacher, I know the importance of allowing students to be creative and

This program guides students through a variety of engaging theatre games and scene work activities using the vibrant images on WRiTE BRAiN's Story Cards as visual prompts. Improvising and engaging in structured theatre games offers students a valuable form of "purposeful play" and gives them the opportunity to tap into a wellspring of creative ideas they can then apply to their written work, as well as in their daily lives outside the classroom!

creativity, reflection, self-expression, fun, processing, handwriting, social-emotional, self-esteem boosting, memory-making

This program offers approaches and ideas for facilitating engaging and organic daily reflection through short-form writing bursts that explode onto the pages of journals your students will keep for a lifetime. With fun and inspired prompts, students identify their feelings and thoughts in a non-threatening process that helps them make connections to their life experience.

Handwriting in a daily journal is a meaningful, skills-building activity that is "uncorrected," helping students to feel brave and worry-free. The journals your students create will live on as time capsules - tangible records of their lives and memories RIGHT NOW.

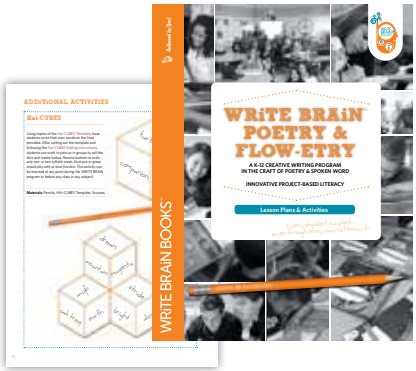

watching them shine in the process. With these programs, our students have shown us that they only need a little guidance from us to produce wonderful masterpieces. WRiTE BRAiN works for us; winter, spring summer, and fall!"

POETRY & FLOW-ETRY

playful, cultural, self-expressive, critical thinking, kinesthetic, educational, performance, cross-curricular, fun, creative

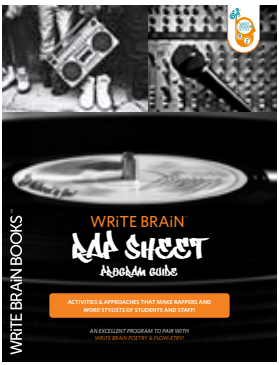

The program is the perfect tool to build upon your students' literacy skills through disguised, project-based learning. With over 15 hours of lessons and activities, the WRiTE BRAiN POETRY & FLOW-ETRY program encourages students to play with language. Poetry is a lost art to be rediscovered. Spoken word is an evolving one. Elevate & inspire your students!

WRiTE BRAiN RAP SHEET

collaboration, self-expression, creativity, performance, word association, musicality, poetry, family engagement

With this program, students are encouraged to express themselves creatively and rhythmically using vocal or hand beats and/or karaoke tracks of popular songs they will write their own words to. Rapping, like spoken word or poetry, is a form of storytelling that taps into a need for self-expression. Our simple Rap Sheet program guide helps facilitators access the rhythmic words living inside their summer storytelling artists. The program includes a brief history of rap music and its origins!
